The Vermont Small Business Development Center (SBDC) is a non-profit partnership of government, education, and business. Its goal is to spur Vermont's economy by helping its small businesses succeed and grow - providing free, confidential counseling. P.O. Box 188, Randolph Center, VT 05061 802-728-9101, 1-800-464-7232 www.vtsbdc.org

The VT Small Business Administration's (SBA) Financing programs provides financial assistance through its participating lenders in the form of loan guaranties, not direct loans. Loan proceeds can be used for working capital and to purchase machinery and equipment, real property, and inventory. Guaranteed loans may also be used to purchase an existing business. Terms vary depending upon the use of loan proceeds. Interest rates also vary depending upon the size and term of the loan. All terms and conditions are negotiated with the lender. For more information, call 802 828-4422.

Federal - EPA

EPA's Financing Guide for Recycling Businesses is designed to make the process of identifying and securing new sources of capital for new and expanding recycling enterprises more efficient. www.epa.gov/docs/epaoswer/non-hw/recycle/finguide/index.htm

EPA's Office of Research and Development (ORD) manages the Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) program to fund development and commercialization of new environmental technologies. Competitive solicitations covering air and water pollution control, solid and hazardous waste management, pollution prevention and environmental monitoring are issued annually. Approximately 40 Phase I technologies are funded with $70,000 awards for 6 months. Phase I winners are invited to participate in Phase II solicitation from which about 10-15 Phase II technologies are funded with up to $225,000 over two years. Abstracts of awards, previous solicitations and various publications are available through the website at: <http://es.epa.gov/ncer/sbir/>
Or call the EPA - SBIR Helpline at: 800-490-9194

The Federal Small Business Gateway www.epa.gov/smallbusiness site provides information for small businesses interested in saving money and funding sources, as does the Small Business Environmental Home Page www.smallbiz-enviroweb.org/funding.html

EPA Grants and Debarment

It is EPA's policy to promote competition in the award of assistance agreements to the maximum extent practicable. Depending on the assistance program you are applying for, you will need to obtain an application kit from the appropriate Grants or Program Office that will administer the assistance program. This will be one of ten EPA Regional Offices or from its Headquarters Office in Washington, DC. You should contact the appropriate office identified in the solicitation.

EPA's Pollution Prevention Division's Environmentally-Preferable Purchasing Program is of interest to many companies, including small businesses that manufacture, distribute, or provide "green" products and services—those that present fewer potential risks to the environment and human health. The Federal government (the single largest purchaser of goods and services in the US) is increasingly factoring environmental considerations into its procurement decisions. Small businesses can gain a vast amount of information concerning the Federal acquisition process in the booklet, Selling Environmental Products to the Government, viewed at www.epa.gov/oppt/epp
